Castro Called Fascinating By Donovan

(Compiled from Associated Press and United Press

Fidel Castro is "a rather fascinating individual," says James B. Donovan, attorney.

Donovan, chief negotiator for the release of the Cuban Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners, added this appraisal of the Cuban prime minister in an address last night in Washington:

"If you grew up in New York you wouldn't have any trouble understanding Castro. When any man starts out with 17 men and does what he has done—for good or evil—you know he is in possession of his senses."
